Subject: China Shipping

CAUTION: External email.

As a concerned lifelong resident of San Pedro I find it very disturbing that China Shipping has not met the standards placed by POLA regarding environmental standards. I am MORE concerned with the terminology used by Gene Seroka regarding new equipment. This sounds like the same terminology used by APMT to implement automation hiding behind the Clean Air Act. As a community member we of course want to live in the best possible situation environmentally but not at the cost of jobs. There are machines now that are hybrid that are zero or near zero emissions that would meet the standards placed while maintaining jobs. Do not let these companies hide behind the clean air act to enforce their agendas. If the environment and community are who you are supposed to work for then stand with the community not with big businesses.
